SUL Course Content

Teaching

At SUL, it is very important to us that students benefit linguistically from their stay in the UK. All courses therefore include work on language that students will need to use on their programmes, whether language to communicate with host families, language to go shopping or language to participate in team building activities.

The language content is tailored to the programme and we work closely with our teachers to ensure all students leave the UK feeling more confident about using English for real-life, authentic purposes.

On typical programmes we have a strong focus on speaking and listening, aiming to improve both fluency and accuracy in using grammatical structures and vocabulary. We can also tailor the skills to focus on your specific needs – if your group needs a programme on academic writing or reading English articles, you have come to the right place to organise this!

The more we know about your group's needs in advance, the better able we can plan their academic programme.

Our maximum class size is 15 students, however we also provide group courses with smaller classes if required. Please enquire.

Activities

Whether you choose a residential or homestay centre, we can provide a full activity programme to suit your group's needs.

If you are looking for a Language Holiday your activities may include exciting sports such as surfing, horse riding or even Harry Potter's Quidditch!

Students on a SUL Educational Visit can enjoy activities which promote communication, team building and leadership skills, while having fun at the same time.

No matter which type of programme you choose, SUL's 35 years of experience in providing courses to young people means we can certainly motivate and entertain your students throughout their stay.

Excursions

All courses can include excursions to exciting destinations in the UK, regardless of the specific programme or location you choose. We work hard to ensure the trips are both cultural and educational, as well as giving students shopping time to buy souvenirs.

On all excursions the SUL trip leaders inform the group of the history and cultural importance of what they are seeing. This is done interactively through quizzes and questions to make the information as memorable as possible.

For more information on the specific excursion destinations on offer, please refer to our location pages.

Educational Visits

SUL English through Experience

The SUL English through Experience programme is popular with primary school groups looking to enrich their year-round studies on topics such as British history and literature. The educational visits are the main focus of the course. The morning 'link lesson' prepares students for the things they are going to be seeing and doing and also involve practice of relevant language structures and vocabulary.

We work with the group's organiser and take care to ensure the visits are as educational as possible. Students have guided tours of the points of interest and complete tasks to ensure that learning is taking place. The evening activities promote communication and relate to the educational visit of the day, helping both the English and the visit become more memorable.

Course Objectives: To improve English by 'doing' while engaged in educational visits and activities. To develop a wider understanding of aspects of British history, literature and traditions covered in students' year-round school curricula.

"The children still talk now about this trip in their lessons.
They say they learnt so much in an unexpected way"

Natalie (Head of English), Educational Visit in Chalfont, May 2015

SUL English for School Subjects

It is more and more important for students to be able to communicate in English on a range of subjects, with many schools adopting a CLIL (Content and Language Integrated Learning) approach to teach English and subject content simultaneously.

On a SUL English for School Subjects programme we can work with your school's curriculum to teach English for school subjects including Maths, Science, Geography or History. We can also provide programmes on more specific subjects such as Medicine, Engineering or Art for higher-level secondary groups.

We link the educational visits and activities to the English tuition, providing a well-rounded experience. For example, an English for Maths programme may include a London walking tour incorporating the geometric shapes of famous buildings and bridges.

Programmes include guided project preparation on the specific subject to promote teamwork and independent learning. Students give their project presentations at the end of the course, which also develops their English public speaking skills.

Course Objectives: To promote integrated learning by linking a curriculum subject to English lessons, activities and visits.

Example programme: This English for Science programme is based at our Great Ballard residential centre (see locations pages). This course is aimed at a primary group and can be adapted for older groups, other academic subjects or alternative locations. Please enquire for more information.

Language Holidays

SUL Exciting English Explorer

If a fun experience is just as important to your students as English improvement, the SUL Exciting English Explorer could be just what you need. Students have English lessons each morning with topics relating to the afternoon activity, which helps them to remember the language more clearly.

The project work throughout the course provides students with an opportunity to use their English creatively. SUL Language Holidays usually last for 2 weeks and students give their project presentations at the end of the course.

We aim to make the activities as fun and engaging as possible. Our teachers stay with the group for the whole day, maximising the opportunity for English communication. Most popular for teenage groups, this course is best taken as a homestay option, meaning students practise their language skills when interacting with the host and their family.

Course Objectives: To improve General English communication skills and take part in fun and exciting activities in the local area.

“...you can learn English and at the same time you can have a good holiday”

Adrien (14), Language Holiday in Worcester, July 2015
