SUL Home Tutors

We have a wide selection of home tutors at SUL so we can always find a good match for each of our students, with a host that meets their preferences and shares similar interests. From families with children to retired couples, those without pets or those with horses, SUL will supply the most suitable tutor.

SUL home tutors are friendly, welcoming and consistently supported by our SUL academic team. They are only selected to work for SUL after a personal interview at home. We make appropriate checks before accepting a tutor and their family, rechecking on a regular basis.

Meet some of our home tutors

Debbie, Cornwall

Debbie lives in a cottage set in a quiet village with wonderful views over the river. Her two sons live away but she shares her home with her two dogs.

Debbie is a journalist working for local newspapers, and as a court reporter can take students to observe in court, to see how the British justice system works!

Debbie enjoys dog walking, boating and horse riding.

"I like to give the student the opportunity to improve their English in idyllic surroundings in a friendly home"

Michelle, Bristol

Michelle, her husband (an Army Officer), their three children (2 girls, 1 boy) and their dog live in a small historic town in Wiltshire, just 30 minutes from Bristol and Bath.

The family enjoy many activities from dog walking to sports such as football, rugby, cricket, Judo, yoga and cycling.

The girls enjoy art and play the piano and guitar. Michelle, who has been a SUL home tutor for 7 years, says she enjoys it as much now as when she started!

"Providing a suitable course of lessons and ensuring the student has a great experience is always a priority".

Deb, Wiltshire

Deb has been hosting and teaching international students for over 11 years. She is an English teacher and has worked at a secondary school.

Deb and her two teenage children live in a beautiful house near the old town of Malmesbury. Deb likes walking her little dog, writing poetry and reading.

As a family they enjoy swimming, walking, and visiting local places of interest e.g. Roman Cirencester, the city of Bath or the SS Great Britain in Bristol.

"Hosting and teaching is like painting rainbows on the landscape of life"

Denis, Exmouth

A mature couple from Exmouth that love to provide students with a fun-filled and educational stay!

Denis is our home tutor, and he takes great care in planning the lessons and activities for students.

He enjoys swimming, cycling, walking, reading, economics and politics. His partner also enjoys reading, walking and spending time with the grandchildren. They live within walking distance of the town centre and beach.

Courses for Young Learners

General English

AGE RANGE 12-17 YEARS ENGLISH LEVEL SUITABLE FOR ELEMENTARY TO ADVANCED STUDENTS (A1 - C1)

A SUL General English Home Tuition programme is a fantastic way to motivate teenagers and young learners to focus on their English. Your child will spend the whole day with their welcoming tutor so it is necessary for them to use English for real-life, authentic purposes.

The tutor will firstly assess the needs of the student and create an individual learning programme. After the initial needs analysis, the tutor will use the tuition hours to develop your child's grammar, vocabulary and English accuracy. Outside of lesson time your child will be completely immersed in the language in interactions with the tutor and their family, helping them to focus on their fluency and 'natural' English.

Our caring tutors work hard to ensure your child has the best possible English experience during their stay in the UK, with a personalised English programme tailored to the student's needs and interests.

Course Objective: To improve English language knowledge and communication skills, as well as build self-confidence.

ENGLISH IN ACTION

We believe that language is best learned and remembered when it is used in a practical way. In the morning sessions, the tutor covers language that the students can use in the UK. In the afternoon the student goes out with the tutor to encourage the student to use their English in real-life situations such as:

- Town directions & features – the student takes the tutor on a descriptive tour of the local area.
- Bargaining for goods – the tutor takes the student to a market where they use their English to get the best price for small items.

IMMERSION COURSES (NO LESSONS):

SUL also offers English Immersion One-to-One Courses with no formal tuition. Typically students will make excellent progress in their English by simply being immersed in family life.

Being part of the family and daily routine means students will listen and speak a great deal of English every day, in a 'natural' environment.
